

Deaf people have enough problems with language and English comprehension difficulties without having to deal with more than one service each with its own different rules. This can be critical at times! We would like to have the same simple, easy access that hearing people do: one telephone reaches all other telephones and one videophone reaches all other videophones, interpreter services and by relay, all other telephones. No silly restrictions for political or commercial gain should be tolerated.